RAIN ONLY A "TRESSER"
Thursday's rain was nothing but a "tresser," caused by the sudden drop in temperature, according to the local weather bureau. The unexpected turn of the weather came with the visit of north Rocky mountain winds, and will continue to chill El Paso and vicinity at least for another day, although clear weather will prevail, it was said.

deavor To Learn Identity Of Dead Italian.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 21.—Attempts to learn the identity of an Italian, whose body was reported to have been found in a 50 gallon cask of wine, shipped from this city to New York, were being made here today by the police and the United States internal revenue officers. According to the information from Capt. Carey, of the New York police department, to the San Francisco police, the cask bore the name of an Italian wine firm here, and was regularly shipped with the internal revenue credentials. The discovery of the man's body was made when the cask was opened for a test of the wine, according to Capt. Carey's message.

Names of men reported missing in the Italian colony here are being investigated by the police.

PROTEST HIGHER PHONE CHARGES

State Authorities Complain of Action Taken by Mr. Burleson.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—Increases in telephone rates, ranging from 14 to 26 percent, ordered in certain sections by postmaster general Burleson, through state utility commissions are drawing sharp protests from some of the state authorities. This was disclosed today, after the postoffice department had made public a telegram, sent to the Oregon public service commission, in response to a complaint that the method of making increases there was irregular.

Without going into the question of his power to fix rates, Mr. Burleson asked the Oregon commission to consider the new schedule there as regularly filed, so that there may be no interruption of service of loss to the government and that employes may not be deprived of increased wages already granted.

More Revenue Needed.
W. H. Lamar, solicitor for the department and member of the wire control committee, said today that the increases complained of all had been authorized after the companies concerned had estimated additional revenues needed to meet increased labor and material costs. He said no state utility commissions had as yet refused to allow any of the increases asked and that consequently, the question of whether the postmaster general's authority was sufficient to establish increased rates, even in the face of state and municipal opposition, had not been passed upon. All increases are regarded as tentative and provisional, Mr. Lamar added, to be definitely settled by the rate standardization and unification plans being worked out.

High Officials Here To Argue Big Water Case

Attorney General Elect Cureston And W. T. Potter In El Paso Court.

C. M. Cureston, first assistant attorney general, and W. T. Potter, chairman of the board of water engineers of Texas, arrived in El Paso Thursday to appear in the court of civil appeals to resist an application by C. E. McKnight, of Reeves county, for an injunction to restrain the board of water engineers from conducting a semijudicial proceeding in determining the water rights of all claimants to irrigation privileges on the Pecos river and its tributaries. This proceeding by the board was authorized as an act of the 56th legislature and is important to the irrigation interests of the state. The attack on the constitutionality of the act that is now being made has aroused the interest of the chief law officer of Texas attorney general, E. F. Leeper, who, therefore, designated his first assistant to present the argument for the state.

First Visit to El Paso.
This is the first visit Mr. Cureston has made to El Paso since his election as attorney general. He will be a short time here will succeed Mr. Leeper in that position.

John W. T. Potter, chairman of the board of water engineers, is rounding out nearly six years of service in the department of state government that has to do with irrigation projects. When the board was established in 1911, it was its first secretary and continued in that position until he was made chairman in the latter part of 1917. He has been a close student of irrigation matters and he has made frequent trips to west Texas to visit irrigation projects.

RIO GRANDE PARK LEASE EXPIRES; PLACE ABANDONED

The Rio Grande hall park, where amateur leagues settled many races and where El Paso sport lovers have often witnessed feats of horsemanship by army riders, is no more. The lease on the ground held by John McKlosky expired recently, and he sold the grand stand lumber and delivered the ground back to the owners, the Cotton estate. The stand has been demolished and the place has only the big scoreboard to remind passerby that it was once a hall park.

Otis C. Coles, of the firm managing the Cotton estate, said today that they had extended permission to the army to use the ground for games whenever they desired, but the place is no longer a regular park.

Quality Saved by Sacrifice of Quantity is the story of how Coca-Cola weathered the war, when the need came to make a soldier of sugar and send half of our allotment to France. We cut down our output to keep up quality at whatever cost to ourselves.

Preserving quality has been the salvation of our product and the public's safeguard against imitators that have sought to take advantage of our war-shortage.

The inimitable quality of Coca-Cola insures a waiting public when peace shall have restored us to full production.

If your suspicion is aroused by the first taste of what you are served with, put the question squarely up to the dealer.
